

RANKED A TOP WOMEN'S HOSPITAL IN THE NATION. EVEN BEFORE THESE DOORS OPEN.

Hackensack University Medical Center has always been a leader in delivering quality healthcare to women. Just take our latest five-star ranking from HealthGrades®, the nation's leading source for healthcare quality information.

In its study, Women's Health Outcomes in U.S. Hospitals, HealthGrades ranked Hackensack University Medical Center in the top 15 percent in the nation for women's health services. This ranking includes maternity care as well as cardiac and stroke outcomes for women. And when it comes to having an outstanding patient experience, we get the highest marks from our Women's Health Services' patients.

But wait: A top women's services hospital – even before we open our brand new women's hospital in The Gabrellian Women's and Children's Pavilion?

Long before our national ranking, Hackensack University Medical Center realized the importance of building a modern state-of-the-art medical facility just for women and their families. The Gabrellian Women's and Children's Pavilion is that place. Home to The Joseph M. Sanzari Children's Hospital, The Donna A. Sanzari Women's Hospital, and The Mark Messier Skyway, The Pavilion brings together virtually every healthcare service a woman and her family might need, all in one brilliantly designed family-centered environment.

Today, Hackensack University Medical Center is in the top 15 percent in the nation for women's health. We're also New Jersey's only medical center named the "best of the best" heart centers for women by Good Housekeeping magazine. Two of America's most prestigious rankings for women's health – even before we open our world-class Donna A. Sanzari Women's Hospital.
